Documents you may receive in the financial planning process

We will provide you with several documents as you progress through your financial planning and advice journey. We may provide these documents electronically to your nominated email address, unless otherwise agreed.

When we provide personal advice, it will normally be documented and provided to you in a Statement of Advice (SoA). The SoA contains a summary of your goals and the strategies and any financial products we may recommend to achieve your goals. It also provides you with detailed information about product costs and the fees and other benefits we and others will receive, as a result of our advice. We are only able to provide personal advice about certain products as stipulated under our Australian Financial Services License (AFSL).

If we provide further personal advice after providing our initial advice, we may record this in a Record of Advice (ROA), instead of an SOA. You may request a record of the further advice that is provided to you, if you haven't already been provided with it. You can also contact us, using the details at the start of this FSG, within 7 years from when the advice is provided, to request this record.

If we recommend or arrange a financial product for you, we will provide you with a Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) and a Target Market Determination (TMD) prepared by the product issuer. The PDS and TMD contain information about the relevant product to assist you in making an informed decision about the financial product. The PDS will outline relevant terms, significant risks and fees and costs associated with the product and the TMD will outline features of the appropriate target market for the product. You should read any warnings in your advice document, the PDS or TMD carefully before making any decision relating to a financial strategy or product.
